

Mother says she cannot give the the shop to the children of the house
of the house
of the house

My Aunt Fairbanks gets along pretty comfortably with the aid of considerable Chamber furniture and bedding which has been out for an indefinite period, which she has filled up around her in admirable confusion, I think she is a little contrary myself. I am going to the Village this afternoon and she says she is going to send up for a half dozen candles, she wants them to burn when she has mind to — Mother is full as well and I think a little better than when you left — Yesterday and last night snow fell to the depth of about 7 inches which makes good sledging Father says and he is improving it of course — Joseph has moved up to Francis Shop has his apprentice, and as Chas. A. would say "knocking into business" Boards with Aunt Amos pay $1,62 1/2 per week each, gets "pumped" I reckon.

We have all vacated the old kitchen, I shall work what I do, at the Village, shall try and get board at Mr. Chancell's if possible Mother says it'll be a pleasant place. Eliza sends love, says he will write to you before long.

Charles and his wife have been to Nap and returned last Monday, they think of going back next month sometime, Charles I believe will work in the shop, will rent a house,
