

Friend Gould

Mr Kimball called on me according to agreement, did not seem disposed to make much talk, about it. Sat about an hour & upon going out, said to me, that I should think ^{different} by tomorrow night, or told me to think of it until tomorrow eve & perhaps I should think different, or something to that purpose. I could not tell whether he meant, by saying so, to threaten, or to parley with me, as he has been doing for the past month; suppose he thinks, as he has done as he said he would & that the matter will stand until after Court, but I want you to cancel on this track please advise me by ^{tomorrow} ~~tomorrow~~ mail or telegraph, as I want him to ^{tomorrow eve} know, that I have not changed my mind

In haste - No Date

Thursday eve
