

The first week after she left $1.20, cents the next $1.40 cents, I shall know this week, it is very tiresome work for one not being acquainted with the buisness I can not get along so well, you know, and my work goes rather bad, if Susan does not come soon I shall have her books if she does I think there is a pair saved in purpose for me but there is one old book and 2 or 3 new ones who came before I did that have not got floors. I like full better than I exp-ected if I knew that you were all well and my little loved one was happy I would try to be contented and earn something. O marm look in my short beaureau draw next the bed and see if one of your glasses to your specks are there, I carried them to be mended the other night and when I got there one glass was gone if it is there put it in the letter and send it. I shall send my boy home a cap for that by Martha Porter she is coming before long, I see Mary Hexter after and I guess if the truth was told she and Samuel are not much superior to their brother Ruben, are Tyler folks going to move down here, the girls do not appear one mite as they used to I think their mother filled their ears with something I dont know what when she was down I heard you I have got a bossy now my boy can have milk enough cant he little dove, there I cant think any more to write, I have had an awful cold this week past but that is not much, now I shall expect a letter soon very soon, and tell me all you know, you must needs know that I feel very anxious to hear from you By your Martha C. Hexter N.B. when you write direct to Mrs Martha C. Hexter I think I will always retain the name and bear it patiently for my boys sake
