Appendix D: Military Post Offices:

All of the dates of operation of APO branches of Presque Isle shown in TPOOM are correct. However, some of these APOs operated as branches of New York before, as well as after, their time as branches of Presque Isle. Also, sometimes they were administratively in existence, but may not have been actually open for business, a situation similar to today's suspended but not yet discontinued. The following information comes from the Military Postal History Society's Numbered Army & Air Force Post Office Locations Volume 1, BPOs, PRSs & Regular APOs 1941-1964, by Russ Carter.

APO 440 established as a branch of New York Feb. 17, 1943; arrived at Longue Pointe-de-Mingan, Quebec March 28, 1943; changed to branch of Presque Isle March 1, 1944; changed back to branch of New York Sept. 1, 1945; closed Oct. 27, 1949; administratively discontinued Dec. 31, 1949.

APO 677 established as a branch of Presque Isle Aug. 8, 1942; arrived at Goose Bay, Labrador September 1942; changed to branch New York Sept. 1, 1945; changed to APO 09677 Jan. 1, 1965; later closed.

APO 691 established as branch of New York Sept. 14, 1942; arrived at Fort Chimo (now Kuujuaq) Quebec September 1942; changed to branch Presque Isle March 1, 1944; changed to branch New York Sept. 1, 1945; closed Jan. 22, 1946; administratively discontinued Oct. 1, 1946.

APO 692 established as branch of New York Sept. 14, 1942; arrived at Frobisher Bay, Northwest Territories (now Iqaluit, Nunavut Territory) September 1942; changed to branch Presque Isle March 1, 1944; changed to branch New York Sept. 1, 1945; closed Oct. 31, 1949; administratively discontinued Nov. 1, 1949.
